21. The question of mortgage was still more difficult. Almost all the considerations upon either side which have been referred to in the preceding paragraph apply here also, with the addition of others of still greater importance. On the one hand, one of the methods in which an involved cultivator can most effectively be assisted is by enabling him to substitute a mortgage upon reasonable for one upon exorbitant terms; and a member who is refused the credit to which his property in land fairly entitles him, merely because he is not allowed to hypothecate it to the society, may be driven to the money-lender for a loan which, had it not been for the prohibition, he might have taken from the society with advantage to both parties. On the other hand, it is exceedingly inadvisable that these societies should be allowed to look up their limited capital in a form in which it is not readily available; their most useful form of business will probably be small loans for short periods with prompt recoveries; and it is above all things desirable that they should keep out of the law courts. The final conclusion was that loans upon mortgage should be allowed in the first instance; but that the Local Government should have power to prohibit or restrict them, either generally or in any particular case, if it is found that interference is necessary. The matter is one which should be very carefully watched

22. The provisions of sections 12 and 13 of the Act, to the effect that the number and value of shares to be held in a co-operative society by a single individual shall be strictly limited, and that shares shall not be transferable until they have been in the possession of the holder for a fixed period, are of great importance. Their object is to render impossible the acquisition by individuals of a predominant interest in such societies, to prevent speculation in connection with them, and to discourage those who might desire for reasons of personal profit to avail themselves of the facilities given by the Act to start banks for other ends than those for which these societies are intended.

23. It has been considered advisable that an official audit should be compulsory in all cases, and this is provided for in section 21. There is no doubt that such an audit will give the outside public and the members more confidence in the management; and even where no financial assistance may be received from Government, the societies will obtain valuable privileges under the Act, and it is reasonable that they should at the same time be obliged to submit their accounts to some check, which must in this country take the form of an official audit.

24. In section 25 power has been taken to grant certain exemptions by executive order. The Government of India are of opinion that co-operative credit societies should be exempted from stamp duty, and also (for the present, at any rate) from income-tax. They propose also to exempt them from the payment of all registration fees, and specially of fees for searching the registers, which in provinces where there is no record-of-rights is the only means of ascertaining the existence of encumbrances upon land. As, however, this last is an exemption which might be greatly abused, the society thereby obtaining information free of fees which is really required for private purposes, the Act provides for the withdrawal of the exemption from any particular society; and a careful watch should be kept upon the exercise of this privilege, which should be promptly withdrawn in case of abuse. Separate notifications will shortly be issued under section 25.

25. Such are the principal provisions of the Act. But in the course of discussion it became evident that it was impossible to frame any set of general provisions which should cover all conceivable forms in which the principle of co-operation might usefully be applied for the benefit of small folk in India. For instance, among the papers submitted to the Legislative Council during the passing of the Bill was a letter describing an institution called a Dharm gola that has been started in several villages of the Dinajpur district. The institution is one which is entirely deserving of encouragement, its objects being precisely the objects which it is desired to promote, and yet it would be difficult or impossible to bring it under the provisions of the Act. Another consideration presented itself It was recognised that, in dealing with many disputed points of great difficulty, and regarding which there was little or no experience to guide the Legislature, it was impossible to provide for all eventualities and that, however generally suitable the specific provisions of the Act might be, there might well be special circumstances and conditions to which they were unsuited. A general section has therefore been added which provides that the Local Government may, by special order in each case, permit any association whatever to be registered as a society under the Act, and may exempt any society thus specially registered from any of its provisions, or may modify any of those provisions in their application to any such society. The position, therefore, stands as follows. In the body of the Act have been included those provisions which it is believed will be suitable to the type of co-operative societies that is most likely to come into existence in this country, and these provisions will constitute the normal law, which will apply of its own force to these societies in general. But a Local Government will have an absolutely free hand to depart from or vary them, on condition only that it does so by special order in each case, and after full consideration of the circumstances which justify the departure. Of course it is intended that this power should be exercised only in behalf of societies the aims of which are consonant with the objects which the Act is intended to promote. But subject to this restriction, that freedom of experiment to which the Government of India attach so much importance, is secured in the fullest possible measure.

26. Of the matters that are left to be dealt with by executive order, the most important has reference to the grant of financial assistance by Government to the societies. The Government of India recognise that there is a danger of obscuring the co-operative principle by lending them State funds, and that no societies wholly or mainly financed by Government can ever attain the objects in view. But such advances will have a value beyond their mere use as capital, since they will be an earnest of the reality of the interest taken by Government in the movement, and will, under the conditions to which it is intended to subject them, stimulate the thrift and self-help which should be a condition precedent to their grant; and they doubt whether any substantial progress will be made by rural societies in many parts of the country unless such assistance is given. They therefore sanction advances to such societies to be made in even fifties of rupees, which will be free of interest during the first three years after the registration of any society. But no advance should be made to any society so as to cause the total amount advanced to and due by it to exceed the total amount of money subscribed and deposited or of share capital paid up by the members, or to exceed Rs. 2,000. With reference to the first condition, it may be explained that it relates only to deposits made by members for which the society would be liable only to its own members, and that in fixing the amount of State assistance in the case of such societies, deposits made with the society by outsiders, which in reality are loans to the society, should not be taken into account. The object of the limitation is to encourage the provision of funds by the members themselves, by regulating the amount of State aid according to the amount contributed by them to the working capital of the society; in other words, to secure that the extent of such assistance given by the Government shall be made to depend upon the amount of thrift and effort which the members have shown, as evidenced by their own subscriptions and deposits. It is of course possible that the restriction might be evaded, since the members of a society might, for the purpose of securing a larger measure of State aid, deposit sums which would be withdrawn as soon as the loan was secured. But the Government of India consider that the matter may safely be left to the Local Government. It may perhaps be advisable to take into account only those deposits which have been made for a fixed term; and in any case, it will be necessary for the Registrar to satisfy himself, before recommending an advance in any case, that the deposits are bonâ fide. No portion of the advances should bear interest or be recoverable during the first three years after the registration of a society, except in the event of its being wound up; and thereafter they will be recoverable by annual instalments not exceeding one-tenth of the advance and will bear interest at four per cent. The Registrar should be empowered to suspend the payment of any instalment of capital on payment of the interest due, and upon sufficient cause shown; and such suspension should operate simply to postpone the payment of the suspended instalment and of all subsequent instalments by one instalment period. It has been thought advisable to reserve the power to recover these advances summarily if necessary, and provision has been made for this purpose in section 26 of the Act.

27. Such is the general character of the action which commends itself to the Government of India. They recognise that it is essential to start cautiously and to progress gradually. The whole matter is one in which we have to feel our way and to purchase our experience; and if action on a large scale were attempted in the first instance, it is possible that many failures might result which would fatally discredit the principle; while, on the other hand, a very few really successful instances will encourage imitation, and set an example which will quickly spread. While State help and support will be needed to begin with, the object to be kept in view is to teach the people to help themselves, and we shall not have succeeded unless we are eventually able to withdraw that support. The Government of India have already insisted upon the absolute necessity for simplicity, if the system is to take root among the peasantry; they desire further to lay stress on the necessity of reducing restrictions to a minimum, so that the people may be encouraged (subject to certain necessary safeguards) to work out the problem on their own lines, with such guidance and advice as can be given them. Local Governments have been addressed on the subject: and in the course of the instructions which they have received as to the steps to be taken to bring the Act into practical operation, they have been invited to select a few districts of each province in which they think the experiment may be most hopefully tried. These should present some variety of conditions so as to give variety of experience. An important factor in the choice will be the personal character and influence of the District Officer, and the probability of his remaining in charge of the district for some time to come. The immediate charge of the infant societies, when once started, should in the opinion of the Government of India devolve upon the Registrar rather than upon the District Officer. But it is the latter who must give the first impulse; he must select the places in which the experiment is most likely to succeed; and he must suggest to the people that they should try it, putting it to them as action to be taken, not by Government, but by themselves, and explaining how far and in what way Government is ready to help them. Even after the society is launched, his active sympathy and support will always be essential, and the Registrar will work in constant consultation wih him.

28. In this manner the Government of India trust that with the co-operation of Local Governments the scheme may be given a fair trial, and neither suffer from the absence of that official guidance without which a successful start cannot be hoped for in this country, nor be prevented by too much supervision and too many restrictions from attaining its full development. They also trust to the intelligent co-operation of the more enlightened sections of the community in promoting an experiment which promises so much benefit to the poorer and more ignorant classes. The time for practical measures has now arrived: and it is the hope of the Governor-General in Council that there may be no delay in getting to work.

ORDERED, that the above Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations, to the Home and Finance Departments, to the Foreign Department for communication to the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, and to the Honourable the Agent to the Governor-General and Chief Commissioner, Baluchistan, and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

PACIFIC OCEAN, SOUTH—Royal Company's islands.

Non-existence of, reported.

No. 147 (third publication).—The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 252 of 1904) that on old Charts of the South Pacific ocean, in the area south of Australia, a group of islands, named Royal Company's islands, are marked as existing in lat. 50° 20′ S., long. 143° 0′ E. They have consequently been inserted for many years in the Admiralty publications.

These islands are not mentioned in any Sailing Directions, the original report of their existence cannot be traced, nor have they apparently been seen by any passing vessel.

Since 1890 the Hydrographic Department of the Admiralty has been collecting data showing where ice and icebergs may be met with in the Southern oceans, and this has necessitated plotting the tracks of many vessels passing south of Australia, several of which have passed over, or close to, the position assigned to the Royal Company's islands without seeing them or any sign of land near them:—thus in 1892 the Pakeha passed one mile north of their assigned position; in 1893 the Crusader passed 5 miles north of them; in 1894 the Rangatira passed 15 miles north of them; in 1895 the Maori passed 2½ miles south, and the Rangatira 15 miles south of them; in 1899 the Rangatira passed one mile south of them, and the Matatua 2 miles north; in 1900 the Matatua passed over the position in which they are supposed to be situated; in 1901 the Karamea passed 40 miles south of them, and in 1902 the Pakeha passed 12 miles south of them.

As no certain information is available as to why these islands were originally placed on the Charts, and as it is evident from the tracks plotted that no land exists in the locality in which they are marked on the Charts, they have now been expunged from the Admiralty publications.

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Charts:—Atlantic and Indian oceans, etc., No. 2483; Pacific ocean, Nos. 2683 and 788.

AUSTRALIA, WEST—Geographe bay.

Cape Naturaliste—Light established.

No. 148 (third publication).—With reference to Notice to Mariners No. 356, dated 31st October 1903, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further Notice (No. 253 of 1904) that, on 15th April 1904, a white group flashing dioptric light showing groups of two flashes every ten seconds, thus:—flash, one-tenth of a second, eclipse, two and six-tenths of a second, flash, one-tenth of a second, eclipse, seven and two-tenths of a second, will be established in a grey stone tower, 62 feet high, constructed in a position about a mile S. 67° E. from the extremity of cape Naturaliste. The light will be elevated 404 feet above high water and visible in clear weather from a distance of 29 miles; it will be obscured over the land from the bearing of N. 20° E., through north, to N. 63° W.

Approximate position, lat. 33° 32′ S., long. 115° 2½′ E.

(Variation 4° Westerly in 1904.)

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Charts:—Indian ocean, No. 748b; Australia, No. 2759b; Champion bay to cape Naturaliste, No. 1033; cape Naturaliste to King George sound, No. 1034: Also, List of Lights, part VI, 1904, No. 1071a; and Australia Directory, vol. III, 1895, page 395.

No. 149 (third publication).—The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 254 of 1904) that it is intended to make the undermentioned alteration in the lighting of the Massawa channel :—

1. Difnein island. The white fixed light on this island will be replaced by a white flashing light every five seconds, with a red sector, exhibited from an iron tower 114 feet high.

   Approximate position, lat. 16° 37′ N., long. 39° 18½′ E.

2. Madote island. A white fixed light, visible from a distance of 10 miles, will be established on a framework support, 35 feet high, now being constructed on this island.

   Approximate position, lat. 15° 35′ N., long. 39° 44½′ E.

3. Shumma island. The white fixed light on this island will be increased in power, and be visible from a distance of 16 miles; it will be established on an iron tower 72 feet high.

   Approximate position, lat. 15° 31½′ N., long. 39° 59′ E.

4. Shab Shakhs. It is intended to establish a white flashing light every five second on the extremity of this reef.

   Approximate position, lat. 14° 40′ N., long. 41° 6½′ E.

5. Ras Mudir. It is intended to establish a fixed white light, visible about 16 miles from an iron tower, 72 feet in height, on Ras Mudir, south side of entrance to Mussawa.

   Approximate position, lat. 15° 37′ N., long. 39° 27½′ E.

Also, that the black can buoy marking Mujunia reef has sunk, and will not be replaced.

NEW ZEALAND—North island, west coast.

Kaipara bar—Channel altered.

No. 150 (third publication).—The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 257 of 1904) that the black and white beacons on North sand spit, Kaipara harbour, in line, now lead over the shoalest part of the bar, they will therefore be removed.

A new channel half a mile wide, in which there are depths ranging from 4¼ to 7 fathoms at low water, has opened out through North spit; it is intended to erect leading beacons to mark this channel, but in the meantime it may be used by keeping a large grassy patch (the only one in the vicinity), situated about six-tenths of a cable S. 22° E. from the lighthouse, in line with the lighthouse flagstaff N. 52° E.; this will lead through the new channel in a depth of not less than 4¼ fathoms at low-water ordinary springs. The soundings being irregular the sea will probably break heavily in westerly gales in this channel.

Approximate position of lighthouse, lat. 36° 23′ S., long. 174° 8½′ E.

(Variation 15° Westerly in 1904.)

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Chart :—Kaipara harbour, No. 2614 : Also, New Zealand Pilot, 1901, page 244.

During the quarter the prices of all kinds of salt except the price of Bombay karkatch showed a tendency to fall. The increase in the price of Bombay karkatch during the fortnight ending 15th March 1904 is attributed to insufficient stocks. The average price per 100 maunds of Madras salt was Rs. 52-8-6.

10. The following Table (V) shows the quantity of sea-imported salt admitted into bond and cleared from bond and shipboard at the several outports and inland warehousing stations:—

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground, and the rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

⌓ dew; t, thunder.

Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.)	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole)	240	160

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping," by Ball and Hamilton.
"Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers' Educational Course).

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July. The examination will be conducted either at the College, or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only). The examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed; but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it; but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts, not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned:—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application).

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth), not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ.

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing.

NOTE.—A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal, for registration, the names of the accepted candidates. The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts.

This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid will not be refunded.

6. Passed candidate should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

7. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

9. Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination, at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department.

10. Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College, not later than 30 days previous to the examination; the application to be accompanied by the fee of Rupees ten.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermogr and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN, CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1903-1904.

No. 620T.—F., dated Darjeeling, the 25th May 1904.

From—L. P. SHIRRES, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Financial Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of India, Dept. of Revenue and Agriculture.

I AM directed to submit, for the information of the Government of India, a copy of the 117th Annual Report of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, for the year 1903-1904.

2. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor have been conveyed to Major Prain, I.M.S., and his subordinates for their successful administration of the garden during the year.

No. $\frac{1877}{255}$, dated Royal Botanic Garden, Sibpur, the 2nd May 1904.

From—MAJOR D. PRAIN, M.B., I.M.S., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden Sibpur,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the 117th Annual Report of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, for the year 1903-1904.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN, CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1903-1904.

THE filling up of a pond near the Cinchona office and close to the river bank has been the chief out-door operation during the year. The river, which was separated from this pond by a narrow embankment, showed signs, during recent rainy seasons, of breaking through. Under the professional advice of the Department of Public Works it was decided to fill this pond, and a special grant of Rs. 3,000 was provided for the purpose and expended in full during the year. The repainting of the Palm house was taken in hand and the cleaning and painting of the outer aisles overtaken, leaving the central dome still to be dealt with.

The weather during the early part of the year was marked by the absence of the usual hot-season rain-storms. The labour force of the garden had consequently to be employed in watering as many trees and shrubs as possible so as to ensure their preservation. In spite of these efforts a considerable mortality took place, over 60 trees and shrubs having died out-right. As the watering of every tree in the garden being physically impossible, it was necessary to concentrate our efforts on the rare and valuable kinds whose loss would have meant the disappearance of a species from the collection; the death-roll, as a result, fortunately only includes six or eight of this class. The close of the year was marked by a severe wind-storm (March 9th, 1904), which overturned a number of trees, two or three of which were valuable species, and did much damage in the nursery. With these exceptions the weather throughout the year was favourable to vegetation. A large portion of the central section of the great banyan tree fell spontaneously at midnight on March 16th, 1904; the tree had not apparently been damaged by the storm of the previous week, and there was no wind at the time of the accident, which, it is to be feared, indicates merely the progress of natural decay.

2. Economic Work.—The interest taken by the public in plants yielding useful fibres has continued to be great and, in connection with this, progress has been made with the enquiry into the various species of Agave that occur in India. The successful introduction through this garden of Agave Sisalana, the species that yields the most esteemed fibre of this class, has been recorded in the reports for 1891-92 and subsequent years, and a review of the results so far obtained has been alluded to in the report for 1899-1900. The Sisal Agave does not thrive equally well or give equally remunerative results in all parts of India, and in certain districts species of Agave other than Sisalana, already so completely naturalised as to appear indigenous, thrive so much better than Sisal and yield fibres commercially so little inferior to the best Sisal fibre that their systematic cultivation offers a hopeful field for investment. The idea that any Agave is a native of India is a mistaken one; all are American, and all are introduced. The belief that all the Agaves naturalised in India belong to one or, at most, two species, Agave americana and Agave vivipara, would now also appear to be incorrect; it seems that, while, as a rule, more or less well-defined areas have particular species well established, the prevailing species in one area often differs from that most plentiful in another area. Moreover, it is found, when attempts are made to utilize the fibre of these local Agaves, that somewhat diverse results are obtained; at times the fibre extracted is reported to be nearly up to the standard of Sisal, at other times it proves too weak to be worth extracting. The explanation of these facts appears to be that other species of Agave share with A. Sisalana the pecularity of adapting themselves readily to certain localities and thriving less vigorously in others. The original object of the introduction of all the species was to povide secondary lines of defence round stockades, forts and strong villages; in more settled times they have been chiefly used as hedges bordering highways and lines of railway. Vigour of growth therefore has been the only quality considered in selecting plants within any particular area; the nature of the fibre has not till recently attracted attention. It is too soon yet to say how many different Agaves have really become naturalised; by what characters they may be most certainly distinguished; or which of them are best for fibre-producing purposes, but sufficient information has already been obtained to show that considerable caution must be exercised by those desirous of laying down extensive plantations of local Agaves, and all the information so far available has been freely afforded to numerous enquirers during the year. A similar but less marked confusion prevails with regard to the species of Furcræa or "Mauritius hemp", of which certainly two, and probably three kinds have so far become established in India. Steady progress has been made with the investigation referred to in last year's report into the sources of "Indian hemp". Seeds received from gentlemen interested in this trade from parts of India so remote as Coconada,

Lower Bengal, Central India, and the United Provinces have been grown experimentally with the result of proving that fibres which in the trade vary in value, according to locality of origin, from £ 9 to £ 18 per ton are derived from the same plant, Crotalaria juncea. What is still more interesting is the result that when the plants in question are grown side by side, cultivated under identical conditions, and their fibre is extracted in the same way, the difference in value almost disappears. The greatest variation experienced was of £ 2 per ton only, and it was reported that all the fibres submitted for valuation could have been sold under the same mark. These experiments are to be repeated during the ensuing year on a more comprehensive scale so as to put the results on a wider and firmer basis The work of cultivating living tubers or bulbs and of growing seeds for the purpose of identifying the sources of economic articles on behalf of the Reporter on Economic Products has gone on as usual during the year, as has also the preparation of grafts of fruit-trees and the raising of stock of trees for planting by Government officers on roadsides and elsewhere. At the request of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture the Superintendent paid three visits to Bihar to inspect various centres of experimental cotton cultivation; he also paid a visit to Burdwan in connection with the experimental cultivation of jute by the Agricultural Department.

3. Herbarium.—The botanical explorations made during the year included a visit by the Superintendent to Independent Sikkim and Tibet. The journey was undertaken by the invitation of Colonel Younghusband, and with the consent of Government, in order to organise Botanical Survey operations in Tibet in connection with the frontier mission. The results of the visit were very satisfacrory. Captain Gage, Curator of the Herbarium, was deputed to Assam in order to make a systematic survey of the district of Cachar with the object of linking up the results obtained in the course of the investigations already made in the Lushai country. 4. Library.—A large number of books have been added to the library during the year; many of these have been presented or given in exchange for publications. Further progress has been made with the card catalogue and another bookcase has been added. The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 1328J.D.—The 4th June 1904.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 46 (2) (a) of Act V of 1861 (an Act for the Regulation of Police), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the guidance of the police on the several railways in this province in the matter of arrest and prosecution under sections 101 and 131 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) :—

Arrest.

The exercise by the Railway Police of the power of arrest without warrant, given them in section 131 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) for offences under section 101 of the same Act, is discretionary. It should be exercised only in extreme cases, as for instance when—

(a) there has been loss of life or serious injury to person; or (b) a person is caught in the commission of a grave offence; and (c) the accused is likely to abscond or to continue to endanger the safety of the public.

When arrest is made without warrant, immediate intimation of such arrest must be given to the head of the railway employé's department.

2. Under ordinary circumstances, no immediate arrest is necessary. A warrant should be applied for in the usual manner, the police maintaining a watch over the movements of the accused, where this precaution is deemed necessary.

3. When arrest is effected by warrant, the warrant should, in the absence of any direction to the contrary in the warrant under section 77 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, be executed by a police officer of rank superior to that of a Head Constable, first grade. The officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant will execute it judiciously, and if the arrest is likely to cause risk or inconvenience to the public, make arrangements to prevent the escape of the accused and apply to the head of his department to have him relieved, arrest being deferred till he is so relieved.

Prosecution.

4. No prosecution for an offence under section 101 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) shall be instituted by a police officer without the sanction of the Assistant Inspector-General of the Railway Police concerned, which shall be communicated immediately it is accorded to the Agent or the Manager of the Railway.

CALCUTTA;
The 13th June 1904.

A. PEDLER,
Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

HIGHER AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

SESSION 1904-1905.

Rules for Admission.

FOR admission to the Higher Agricultural Class, an applicant must have one of the following qualifications :—

(i) He must have passed the F.E. examination of the Calcutta University, and be under 23 years of age, but no student will be allowed to join the Agricultural class after the expiration of five years from admission into the Engineering College.

(ii) He must have passed the B.A. examination of the Calcutta University by the B course, or possess other sufficient educational qualifications; be under 23 years of age, and, in addition, have received a nomination from the Bengal Government.

(iii) He must have had a general education qualifying him to follow the instruction in the Higher Agricultural Class, and must also receive a nomination from Government for admission as a special student. To be eligible for a nomination under this rule, a candidate must either have landed property of his own, or be recommended by some influential landholder who desires to train him to take part in the management of his estate, or he must otherwise satisfy Government that he intends to make practical use of his agricultural training. Students entering under this rule will be termed Special Agricultural Students. They will not be subject to any maximum limit of age, but will not be entitled to the privileges conferred on passed students under rules 12 and 13, even though they should obtain fully-signed diplomas in due course after passing the necessary examinations.

Every candidate for admission to this Department must apply in writing to the Principal not later than the 14th July. The form of application for a nomination, which must be addressed to the Principal, is given in Appendix B. In the event of the form not being properly filled up and accompanied by the necessary certificates, no notice will be taken of the application.

The number to be nominated each year will depend on the accommodation available.

Every applicant, not already a student of the College, must undergo a medical examination by the College Surgeon before admission to this Department. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

The session begins on the first Monday in November. All students are required to join the College on that day. Any student prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 10. No student will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the month of November, except by special orders of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction in the Higher Agricultural Class will extend over two academic years.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Senior scholarships awarded in the Engineer Department are tenable in the Agricultural Department.

One graduate scholarship of Rs. 30 a month, tenable for one year, will be awarded on the result of the examination held at the end of the first academic year.

APPOINTMENTS.

Two appointments annually are assigned to students holding a fully-signed diploma: one in the Provincial Executive Service and one in the Subordinate Executive Service. The right of selection for these appointments will rest with Government, and the students who gained the highest marks at the examination for diplomas will not necessarily be selected.

Other holders of fully-signed agricultural diplomas, who wish to compete at the examination for admission to the Provincial Subordinate Executive and Opium Services, may submit their names through the Principal to Government for nominations. These applications for nominations will be considered, provided the applicants appear to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor to be otherwise suitable for admission to these services.

ENTRANCE AND TUITION FEES.

Each student in the Higher Agricultural Department will be required to pay an admission fee of Rs. 10.

F.E.'s who elect to join the Agricultural Department, immediately after passing the F.E. examination, are exempted from the payment of this fee, as their name are already borne on the College books.

For the present no tuition fees will be charged to students in the Agricultural Department, except in the case of those joining as special students under rule 3 (iii). The tuition fees for these students will be Rs. 8 a month.

Further particulars may be obtained free on application to the Principal.

SIBPUR, } B. HEATON,
The 8th June 1904. } Offg. Principal, Civil Engineering College.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

Prospectus for Admission.

THIS School is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The School was formally opened on the 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60, of whom only 15 can be other than Biharis by race (viz., natives of the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces or Bengalis domiciled in Bihar); but should the number of suitable applicants who are Biharis by race be insufficient to fill up the 45 vacancies, then the vacancies thus occurring can be given to those applicants who are natives of the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, or non-domiciled Bengalis in that order.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final B class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference, again, being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

3. The School as at present constituted is chiefly engaged in training students for appointment as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of Elementary Mathematics.
(2) Careful training in Survey work.
(3) Drawing, both Free-hand and Engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice, with hand tools and with machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department The necessary additional buildings have now been completed; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this School, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next Session will commence on 4th July 1904.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8, except for non-domiciled Bengalis, who shall pay Rs. 3. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable for one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the School, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, must be Biharis by race or domicile, or natives of the North-Western Provinces or Central Provinces, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below:—

(1) The Entrance examination of an Indian University in English and Mathematics.
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European Schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests, and who are otherwise eligible, will have to pass an examination in English and Mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 11th and 12th July respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars:—

(a) Name, address, and occupation of father or guardian.
(b) Race and religion, and evidence to show that he is either a Bihari or a native of the North-Western Provinces or Central Provinces or a domiciled Bengali.
(c) A certificate of good moral character.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age).
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.

(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin student is taught Elementary Surveying with a corresponding amount of Mathematics and of Geometrical Drawing. He will not be admitted to the Workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department who fails to pass the examination for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of Elementary Surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class may, at his option, leave the School with an Amin certificate.

Candidates for Amin class who have not passed the Middle English or middle Vernacular examination will be examined at the School on the 6th July; candidates failing at this examination will not be admitted.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the Session that commences from 4th July 1904, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1904.

SUPPLY OF DRINKING-WATER IN RURAL AREAS IN BENGAL.

Circular No. 12T.—M., dated Darjeeling, the 20th May 1904.

From—L. P. SHIRRES, ESQ., I.C.S., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department,

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

I AM directed to invite your attention to the observations with regard to the supply of drinking-water in rural areas in Bengal which were made by the Lieutenant-Governor on the occasion of the debate on the Imperial Budget in the Viceregal Council, and which are reproduced in page 340 of the Gazette of India of 2nd April 1904. In the course of his speech His Honour said: "That is a matter to which we shall have to give of our finances; and I do trust that, despite the existence in certain limited localities of an opposite spirit, it will be found that, when the Government either directly or through the Local Boards and Municipalities expends its own money, the public will also be ready to come forward and assist as they have done in the Province to which I have so long belonged." The subject was again dealt with by Sir Andrew Fraser in his speech on the Provincial Budget in the Bengal Legislative Council, and his remarks will be found at pages 130 and 131 of Part IVA of the Calcutta Gazette of the 13th April 1904. On the same occasion His Honour made a definite promise through his Secretary that if in any case the local authorities would contribute one-third of the cost, and the public another third, the Government would contribute the remaining third up to a maximum of Rs. 5,000 for any one district and of Rs. 50,000 for the whole Province. I am now to communicate in greater detail the views of the Lieutenant-Governor on this subject, and his instructions in regard to the manner in which the promised grant should be expended.

2. The difficulties connected with an adequate supply of wholesome drinking-water in the mufassal have engaged the earnest attention of successive Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal for a number of years past. Much correspondence has passed, and frequent instructions have been issued on the subject, as will be seen by a reference to the circulars cited in the margin. The question has also been discussed annually n connection with the Provincial Budget, and statements showing the expenditure incurred have at different times been laid on the Council table in response to requests by Hon'ble Members for such information.

3. With regard to the quantity, as distinguished from the quality, of the water-supply available, the opinions expressed in the somewhat voluminous correspondence referred to are in general accord with the statement made by the Financial Secretary in the debate on the Provincial Budget for the year 1899-1900. On that occasion Mr. Baker, then Financial Secretary, said that according to his information there were very few villages in Bengal which had not in their midst one or more tanks or wells which would be sufficient for local purposes if they were kept in proper order and preserved from contamination. On the whole Sir Andrew Fraser has no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that a deficiency in the quantity of water available in rural areas for drinking purposes is altogether exceptional, and that the efforts of Government and of the local officers should be directed chiefly to improving the sources of supply and removing causes of contamination.

4. The two main causes which affect the quality of the water-supply are the failure to maintain the tanks in proper order, and the absence of suitable arrangements for the reservation of one or more tanks solely for a supply of drinking-water. When a prolonged drought occurs the water of tanks which have not been properly cleaned out and deepened becomes shallow and foul, and may readily be a means of spreading disease. The neglect to re-excavate tanks is sometimes due to divided ownership or to friction amongst owners: it is sometimes also attributable to the fact that the tank was originally excavated as an act of piety, but that the descendants of the original benefactor are unable to maintain it. Although many persons are willing from religious motives to dig new tanks when they can afford to do so, comparatively few are willing to incur the lesser expense of deepening and maintaining tanks which have been dug by others. In such cases as these, or when suitable arrangements are wanting merely because there is no one with sufficient authority to take the initiative, the local officers will very frequently be able to effect an improvement by a judicious use of their influence and of the grants which they are able to make. A District or Subdivisional Officer who goes about himself, and is prepared to make an immediate contribution of not more than Rs. 50 when he sees that it is wanted, can do a great deal towards improving the water-supply. At present, it is true, the funds of a District Board may not be expended in the repair and maintenance of any works unless these become vested in, or are placed under the control and administration of, the Board; but there seems little practical objection to allow the District Board (under section 76) to take over and repair or improve works which are really for the benefit of the community. It may be added that the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 is at present under amendment, and the opportunity will be taken to widen the powers of District Boards in this respect.

5. The contamination of tanks which should be reserved for drinking purposes, where it is not due to the failure of those interested to clean them out and deepen them, is principally owing to their use as places for bathing, for washing clothes and utensils, or for watering cattle. When such neglect of the most elementary rules of health is due to the backwardness of the sanitary education of the people, who prefer to use the nearest water available rather than be put to the inconvenience of going a short distance to satisfy some of their requirements, little immediate result can be hoped for from the occasional visits of officials. In such cases the Government must look to the influence of educated native gentlemen in the mufassal by precept and example gradually to lead their fellow-countrymen into the more excellent way. At the same time, although the exhortations and advice of officials may for the time being appear to be thrown away, they can scarcely fail to have an educative influence which may bear fruit at a later date.

6. When additional tanks or wells are really required, the zamindars concerned should be asked to modify the conditions usually imposed by them in such cases. The conditions in question are for the most part extremely onerous, and, when drinking-water is really required, are unduly restrictive. A notable example of the effect of the withdrawal of such restrictions was seen in North Bhagalpur in the latter part of the year 1901-1902. At that time scarcity was apprehended in certain comparatively small portions of that district, and the zamindars consequently allowed tanks to be dug freely within the areas affected, with the result that in a short time the people themselves expended nearly half a lakh of rupees in digging tanks. At the same time it is not necessary to press for a universal relaxation of these conditions, for those who excavate tanks from purely religious motives do not always do so where tanks are most required, or even where they are required at all.

7. The conditions which the Lieutenant-Governor has attached to the grants which he has promised to make are for the purpose of securing in the first place that the money is judiciously spent. When the villagers themselves are willing to contribute, and when the District Boards are also willing to do so, the Lieutenant-Governor is prepared to accept these facts as sufficient assurance that the money is required, and that it will be properly expended. In the next place these conditions secure also that money will not be given unless it is supplemented, and thus made to go as far as possible. A consideration of even more importance is that when expended in the manner indicated it will be used to foster instead of stunting the growth of the virtues of self-help and self-reliance. One of the principal objects of the Local Self-Government policy is to secure that the Government and the people shall co-operate in advancing the interests of the community. I am to express the hope that this object will be kept steadily in view.

8. During the current year, and until the Local Self-Government Act of 1885 is amended in the manner indicated in paragraph 4 above, the expenditure will probably be mainly confined to the excavation of new tanks or wells, because at present District Boards cannot legally expend their funds in the maintenance of tanks or wells which remain the property of private individuals. His Honour, however, considers it right that this should be so, for places where new tanks or wells are really required have clearly the first claim to assistance from Government.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1903 AND THE ANNUAL STATISTICAL RETURNS AND SHORT NOTES ON VACCINATION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1903-1904.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 8th June 1904.

RESOLUTION No. 1143T.—M.

READ—

The Report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for the year 1903.

Read also—

The Annual Statistical Returns and Short Notes on Vaccination in Bengal for the year 1903-1904.

The Sanitary Commissioner's Report for 1903 deals for the most part with figures only, his remarks under the several headings consisting mainly of comparisons between the statistics of the year under review with those of the preceding year, and to speculations regarding the causes for these variations. Information as to local conditions, the special causes and prevalence of disease, and the progress of sanitation during the year, is somewhat scanty. Major Clarkson has not even given any definite information regarding his Municipal inspections. He has been requested to furnish this information for the year 1903 in a separate report which will be reviewed in the resolution on the working of Municipalities for the year 1903-1904, and to incorporate similar information in future annual reports.

2. There was a decrease in the number of births registered from 2,987,800 in 1902 to 2,903,191 in 1903, and the ratio per mille fell from 40·14 to 39·00. This reduction is attributed by the Sanitary Commissioner to the general unhealthiness of the former year. Though the statistics for all districts do not manifestly support this explanation, it may be accepted without cavil.

3. The total mortality showed a slight diminution from 2,488,428 deaths in 1902 to 2,481,149 in 1903 in spite of an increase in deaths from plague and cholera by over 85,000. The year being a comparatively dry one, there was a decrease of 67,000 in deaths from fever. The statistics furnished regarding the deaths in towns are interesting, and will be dealt with in the Resolution on Municipal Administration.

4. The Sanitary Commissioner is undoubtedly correct in holding that deaths from respiratory diseases are underestimated. Tuberculosis is shown by the jail returns and the common experience of hospitals to be far more prevalent than is supposed; and efforts are being made to educate the people as to the danger of infection. Pamphlets are distributed to patients in hospitals, and the attention of local officers has been drawn to the necessity of enforcing such provisions of the Municipal Act as tend to afford protection from the disease. At the instance of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, has also instituted short courses of lectures on the subject in all colleges and their attached schools. In all hospitals tuberculosis is now dealt with as an infectious disease, and patients suffering from it are isolated as much as possible—a measure the excellent effects of which are already apparent in jails.

5. It is satisfactory to observe that there is a reduction in the rate of infant mortality which is considerably greater than the reduction in the rate of total mortality in the Province. An interesting enquiry into the causes of death in 2,06[illegible] cases of children under six months old was made by Assistant Surgeon Hari Mohan Sen whilst in charge of the Jessore district, and the results probably give a fairly accurate picture of what the facts are. The causes assigned by him were malpraxis (37·40 per cent.), malnutrition (37·34 per cent.), mismanagement of labour and diseased parentage (18·14 per cent.), insanitation (7·34 per cent.), and other causes (·58 per cent.). The remarks of the Sanitary Commissioner and the Calcutta Health Officer regarding infant mortality in that city are interesting and no doubt generally sound. The Lieutenant-Governor does not, however, concur in attributing the excessive mortality to bad midwifery; for although this is no doubt an important factor in infant mortality, skilled medical aid both in hospitals and from private practitioners is much more easily obtained in Calcutta than elsewhere. Some part of the difference may be accounted for by better registration. The facts stated in paragraph 7 of the report indicate how defective registration is elsewhere.

6. To enable a comparison to be readily instituted between the year under review and the preceding ten years, and also to ascertain how far the statistics throw light on the progress of disease, the Lieutenant-Governor has caused tables to be prepared showing the average annual mortality from cholera, fever, small-pox and dysentery and diarrhœa in the quinquennial periods ending in 1897 and 1902. These tables are interesting and are published along with this resolution for general information. It is to be noted in regard to them that the second quinquennium was coincident with an extension of the system of daffadars or head-chaukidars, one of whose duties is to bring to light any failure on the part of a chaukidar to report a birth or a death. The returns for the later years are therefore slightly more accurate. The effect of this is to make the results appear somewhat less favourable than they really are; for any increase in the mortality is exaggerated, while on the other hand any improvement is minimised and made to seem less than is actually the case. The Lieutenant-Governor does not propose fully to discuss these statistics in this Resolution; but there are certain features of them which seem to demand attention.

7. In the case of cholera the quinquennial tables shew that in the later period the average death-rate throughout the province as a whole was lower by no less than one-fifth. The reduction was shared in by 38 out of 46 districts and by 7 out of 9 divisions. The fact that the decrease in the virulence of this disease is not only great but widespread points unmistakeably to an improvement in the sources from which the supplies of drinking water are drawn. This is no doubt to be attributed to the awakening of the public conscience in regard to the necessity for pure drinking water, of which the long continued agitation on the subject affords sufficient evidence.

8. The results brought out in regard to fever are no less striking. They may be summed up in the statement that there has been a movement of the disease from the west to the east. One of the most gratifying results brought to light by the tables is that the number of deaths caused by fever in Calcutta has been reduced by considerably over one-third, a result which must be principally due to the sanitary reforms which have been carried out. The statistics of rainfall were compiled because it was anticipated that they might be expected to throw light upon the movement of this disease eastwards; and the tables giving a summary of the results by divisions confirm this anticipation; for it will be seen that the five Divisions in which the mortality has decreased are those in which the rainfall has been least. In Bengal proper and in Eastern Bengal it is possible that the effects of the excessive rainfall may in some places have been aggravated by the earthquake of 1897. The interference with river navigation in Mymensingh attracted attention at the time; and one of the drainage schemes at present under consideration has been rendered necessary by the elevation from this cause of the bed of a river in Rangpur. No evidence has however been adduced to show whether similar facts have been noticed elsewhere.

9. The fact of gravest import brought into prominence by the statistics is the great and widespread increase in the mortality from small-pox. The death-rate shows a rise in the second quinquennium in 38 out of 46 districts, and in 8 out of 9 divisions, and has more than doubled in the province as a whole. The area most severely visited by the disease in that period comprises the Orissa Division, where the death-rate exceeded five times the Provincial average, and the districts of Singhbhum and Midnapore, where it was respectively nearly four and five times that average. The persistence of the epidemic in the tract in question is attributed to the prevalence of the practice of inoculation in the neighbouring Native States. The Health Officer of Calcutta in his report for 1902-1903 drew attention to the fact that this disease had apparently a five-years' cycle in Calcutta, and the same tendency to periodicity has been observed elsewhere. After allowing the fullest weight to this suggestion, however, Sir Andrew Fraser is constrained to conclude, from the facts before him, that the Department as at present organised is unable to cope with the disease. A principal requisite of the Department is adequate supervision to secure that all the vaccinations reported have been effectively carried out; and proposals for reorganising the Department and for increasing the superior staff are now under consideration. The widespread increase of the disease emphasises the necessity for thorough reform; and His Honour will give due weight to the fact before formulating a final scheme.

10. The statistics relating to dysentery and diarrhœa disclose no marked change in the incidence of the disease throughout the whole Province. The death-rate is lighter in 29 and heavier in 17 districts, although on the whole there is a small increase. The heavy mortality from this disease in the Patna and Saran districts is not improbably contributed to by intestinal parasites which are shown by the experience acquired in jails to be present in a large percentage of the population. The attention of the Sanitary Commissioner will be drawn to the marked rise in the mortality from this cause in the district of Patna, which should be further enquired into.

11. It was stated in the Resolution on the Sanitary Commissioner's Report for last year that the knowledge of tropical diseases has developed so rapidly within the last few years that a special enquiry conducted by a qualified officer in one of the fever-stricken districts would, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, be much more likely to prove efficient than could have been expected even five years ago. Captain L. Rogers, I.M.S., was placed on special duty in the month of December last, and was ordered to conduct the special enquiry in the districts of Dinajpur and Purnea. His report has not yet reached the Government, and the discussion of it must, therefore, be postponed.

12. The Sanitary Commissioner remarks in paragraph 45 of his report that little has been done in the direction of mosquito destruction throughout the Province. The people generally, even those who are educated, including Europeans and many medical officers, do not yet appear to have grasped the importance of this measure. It is undoubtedly a difficult one to carry into practice, especially in a country such as Lower Bengal, where every hollow is a tank and every ditch a breeding place for mosquitoes The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals considers that no progress will be made until Government takes the matter in hand and creates an object-lesson. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely agrees in an opinion which has been expressed by the Inspector General of Civil Hospitals, that it is not generally recognised that "half a loaf is better than no bread," and that even a decrease in the malaria infected mosquitoes is an object worth striving for. There can be no doubt that in many localities a most marked diminution in the number of mosquitoes may be brought about by dealing with their breeding places, and it appears to His Honour that an effective object-lesson such as is recommended by Colonel Browne can probably be given by the officers in charge of jails. If the Jail Superintendents will deal effectively with the jail premises and their vicinity a perceptible effect on the sickness in the jails may be hoped for. The opinion of the Inspector-General of Jails will be invited on this suggestion. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will also be consulted as to the best means of giving effect to his views elsewhere.

13. The subject of the improvement of the sources of village water-supply attracted the attention of Sir Andrew Fraser almost immediately on his arrival in the Province. It is, however, the quality rather than the quantity of water that is in fault; for the voluminous correspondence on the subject contains evidence that a deficiency of the quantity of water available for drinking purposes in villages is altogether exceptional. The local officers have accordingly been requested to direct their efforts chiefly to improving the sources of supply and removing the causes of contamination; and a promise has been given that if in any case the local authorities will contribute one-third of the cost, and the public another third, the Government will contribute the remaining third up to a limit of Rs. 5,000 for any one district, and of Rs. 50,000 for the whole province. These conditions have been imposed so that the gifts of Government may take a form which will encourage the villagers to help themselves, and which will foster a spirit of co-operation between the Government and the people.

14. The account given of the work of the Sanitary Board in section XI of the report can hardly be regarded as of much interest. It is a somewhat uninstructive list of items of business. It would have been desirable rather, for the information of Municipalities and District Boards, to have given some account of the large drainage schemes that have been undertaken, and of some of the works connected with water-supply and drainage. It is impossible within the limits of this Resolution to supply this defect.

15. The difficulties connected with the installation of septic tanks have come prominently into notice during the year under review. The interests involved are very great, namely, those of the public, those of the mill-owners who have sunk large sums of money in these installations, and not least those of the various municipalities scattered throughout the mufassal; for if the system can be made thoroughly efficient and unobjectionable one of the most difficult problems of Municipal administration will be solved. The Lieutenant-Governor has accordingly appointed a small committee under the presidency of the Inspector General of Civil Hospitals to enquire into and report on this question with special reference to existing installations.

16. Plague followed its usual course, rising in the beginning of the year till it reached a maximum in the month of March, and then again rapidly declining till September. The areas affected were the Metropolitan districts of Hooghly, Howrah and the 24-Parganas, and eight districts of Bihar. Elsewhere the cases were only sporadic. The number of deaths was 65,680 as compared with 32,967 in 1902 and 78,629 in 1901. The number of attacks in 1903 was 74,265 as against 38,920 in 1902, so that the ratio of attacks to deaths rose from 84·7 to 88·4. This may possibly be due to greater virulence in the epidemic, but is more probably attributable to less care being taken when the disease is finally established to search out cases that do not end fatally than was exercised at the first outbreak. In this connection it may be noted that before the final disappearance of the disease from Hongkong the Medical Officers of that Colony discovered a large number of cases of pestis ambulans amongst persons who to all appearance were well. Although probably nothing could be done to segregate cases of this kind the knowledge of the existence of the disease in this form may prove very useful.

17. Although the mortality from plague during the year under review was much larger than during 1902 and considerably below that for 1901, no satisfactory explanation has been put forward for these somewhat violent fluctuations. One fact seems clear, viz., that the disease has established itself firmly in the North-Western part of the Provinces coming and going with the seasons with wonderful regularity. The disease may in fact be looked upon in much the same light as any other vegetable crop; it is affected by climatic conditions and by the nature of the soil in which it grows. The conditions, whether of soil, climate or habitations, or all three, in the Eastern districts seem to be inimical to the propagation of the microbe. The remarks of the Civil Surgeons of Murshidabad, Patna and Saran, and of the Magistrate of Patna are worthy of consideration, especially those of the last named officer. It is a question whether enough is being done in the infected districts in the way of providing medical relief and advice. Although no preventive measures can now be carried out except with the consent of the people, still a great deal can be done through the influence of medical officers acting in sympathy with the people, and the conditions are sufficiently serious to justify exceptional efforts. Before the commencement of the next cold weather the Lieutenant-Governor will take an opportunity of consulting personally on this subject with the Commissioners of the Presidency, Patna and Bhagalpur Divisions, and will ascertain their opinion on the views expressed above, and will consider any suggestions they may have to offer.

18. The Sanitary Commissioner does not refer in his report to the mortality from plague amongst persons who have been inoculated with anti-plague vaccine. Apparently he has overlooked the orders of the Government of India, conveyed in their letter No. 1367-76, dated the 9th September 1903, directing that the information collected on the subject should be furnished by the Sanitary Commissioner in his Annual Report in as complete and accurate a form as circumstances permit. The Sanitary Commissioner has been requested to furnish this information separately, and his attention has at the same time been drawn to the suggestion in paragraph 1 of the Resolution on his report for 1902 that Divisional totals should be inserted in certain tables, and to the request in paragraph 12 that in his next report he would give his own opinion regarding certain cases in which no marked improvement had followed the introduction of water-supply and drainage schemes. The latter subject is discussed in paragraph 62 of the present report, but no explanation has been given regarding the town of Dacca, which is included in the list in Statement I of Appendix II, and which was inspected during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

L. P. SHIRRES,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE ANNUAL RETURNS ON THE WORKING OF THE MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1903.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 11th June 1904.

RESOLUTION No 1214T.—M

READ—

The Annual Returns of the Medical Institutions in Bengal for the year 1903, and the notes thereon of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

Read again—

The Annual Returns of the same institutions for the year 1902, and the Resolution recorded on them.

The triennial report on the Charitable Hospitals and Dispensaries in Bengal is not due until next year, and on the present occasion therefore the Inspector-General has confined himself to recording brief remarks explanatory of the statistics.

2. Although the notes submitted with the tables are short, they deal with a variety of interesting topics The most important point that they bring out is the continued progress in usefulness and popularity of the institutions in question. There was a decrease in the number of in-patients due partly to an improvement in the public health, but in spite of this there was a large increase in the total number of patients. Colonel Browne's remarks in regard to the more liberal supply of quinine and other febrifuges, to the impropriety of converting the hospitals into alms-houses and pauperising the patients by not charging respectable people for diet while under treatment, and to the success of the floating dispensary in the Faridpur district and of visits of dispensary medical officers to local markets and fairs elsewhere, deserve the attention of the local authorities.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor has perused with much pleasure the long list of important donations made to hospitals during the year under report. Nineteen donations of an aggregate value of Rs. 3,19,500 are included in the list, and they constitute a record of which the Province has no reason to be ashamed. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor have already been conveyed to the donors separately, but His Honour avails himself of this opportunity to thank them again for their liberality.

4. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals reports favourably on the work done by Civil Surgeons, and states that they have been conscientious and painstaking in the performance of the important duty of inspecting the various institutions under them. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Colonel Browne for the able and careful manner in which he has administered the Department, for the earnestness with which he is seeking to secure better accommodation and equipment for the medical institutions of the Province, and for the sound advice which he has given on all administrative questions in regard to which he has been consulted.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

L. P. SHIRRES,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE EDEN SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1903.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 13th June 1904.

RESOLUTION No. 1236T.—M.

READ—

The Report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1903.

Read again—

The Report for the year 1902 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The Report, which has been submitted by Major F. P. Maynard, I.M.S., is a satisfactory record of a year's successful work. The total number of admissions to the institution during the year was 491, of whom 149 were relatives and friends. The total number of persons treated during the year was, therefore, 342, and 300 of these were cured, while 35 were relieved and 5 died. Ninety of the patients were treated in the hospital section, of whom 50 were operated on, with the result that 45 were entirely cured, 3 were relieved and 1 died.

2. The Report of the Auditors shows that there has been a marked improvement in the financial position. The total income was Rs. 49,972 as compared with Rs. 43,910 in 1902, and there was a profit on the year's working of Rs. 3,464. The institution was therefore self-supporting during the year; but it is deserving of more aid from the public than it at present receives. It is doing good work; and although it is not wholly a charitable institution, there is a part of it which should appeal to the liberality of the public: the loss on free beds amounted to Rs. 1,752 against only Rs. 350 received as donations and subscriptions. There is also at present need of funds; for, although some important and much needed improvements in the buildings are being carried out, further alterations and additions are required in order to bring the work up to a suitable modern standard. The most important requirements are improvement of the third class and children's wards and a separate ward for cases of phthisis. The Lieutenant-Governor would commend these objects to the public.

3. Major A. H. Nott, I.M.S., was in charge from January 1st to May 16th, Captain R. H. Maddox, I.M.S., from May 17th to September 22nd, and Major F. P. Maynard, I.M.S., from September 23rd to the end of the year. All these officers are to be congratulated on the satisfactory condition and the popularity of the institution under their charge.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

L. P. SHIRRES,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1904.

At the beginning of the month fine weather with high temperature prevailed over the Province. Temperature, however, soon began to fall; and though it remained in slight excess in the south up to the 7th, over the remainder of the Province it speedily fell below normal and remained so for the first half of the month. Pressure had risen slightly during the first two days, but after that it changed but little up to the 16th, oscillating regularly and quickly about the normal, but in no case departing from it by more than a very moderate amount. The distribution of pressure was somewhat abnormal, and it was this slight abnormality, persisting as it did during the greater part of the month, which in the main determined the character of the weather during May. Owing in fact to a relative excess of pressure in the east and north, the area of low pressure was pushed more to the south so as practically to be identical in position with Chota Nagpur, and in consequence of this, the winds were more easterly over the whole Province than is usual during this month. Such a shifting of the wind directions represents a greater indraught of moist air from the Bay, and consequently a greater rainfall. This distribution maintained itself practically unchanged for the first half of the month; and as the winds at the head of the Bay were considerably above their average strength, they helped to perpetuate the conditions thus established. Apart from the first two or three days, rainfall was fairly general, more especially in the eastern half of the Province. About the 15th, however, a slight change of conditions took place. Temperature rose except in the extreme west, and remained above normal till the 19th or 20th. At the same time, as might be expected, the force of the wind diminished at the head of the Bay and on the Orissa Coast. The pressure, in conformity with the same laws, showed a relative rise in the western districts as compared with the east The rainfall accordingly during this period fell off, ceasing almost entirely not only in the western districts, but also in South-West and East Bengal. On the 20th pressure was below the normal over the whole Province, while temperature had again fallen below the normal except in Orissa and in the extreme north. Pressure now began to rise; the rise, which gradually extended from the east to the west, being general and rapid between the 21st and 22nd. Although this rise was succeeded by a fall, which likewise began in the eastern districts, the fall was by no means so marked nor so general; so that pressure continued above the normal from the 22nd to the 27th. Temperature likewise reverted gradually to its former distribution, but continued for the most part below the normal. The winds at the head of the Bay had now increased again in force, and were, as in the first part of the month, above their normal strength. The conditions therefore became more favourable for rainfall, which commencing in the north-east gradually extended to all except the extreme western districts. Thus the weather during this period was of much the same cool and showery character which has distinguished the first half of the month. Changes had, however, in the meantime been taking place in the Bay, which, as it turned out, influenced the weather of the Province to a marked extent during some of the latter days of the month. On the morning of the 25th, the weather had become feebly unsettled off the Circars Coast, and on the same night a small cyclonic storm had rapidly developed at a short distance from the coast and as rapidly began to move towards the land, so that early in the morning of the 26th it passed in the immediate vicinity of Coconada, the barometer at that station showing a depth below the normal of $\frac{8}{10}$th of an inch. It is rare at this season of the year for a storm to develop so close to the coast and to strike the land with so little warning. Its limited extent and slight intensity were, however, probably due to these very causes, as storms which are generated in the centre of the Bay usually develop a much greater violence during the time of their march towards the main land.

Ordinarily too storms which cross the Circars Coast at this time advance in a north-westerly direction over the continent, and have therefore little influence over the weather in Bengal. The present depression, however, after moving into the Central Provinces recurved through Chota Nagpur and South Bihar into North Bengal, where it appeared with its centre in the neighbourhood of Rampore Beauliah on the morning of the 28th. It filled up in the course of the same day, but gave general rain to the whole Province during the two days during which its influence was felt.

Pressure had of course fallen rapidly in the track of the storm, and was everywhere in defect on the 28th. A rapid recovery, however, followed the passage of the storm, and on the last day of the month pressure, was in considerable excess over the whole Province. Temperature had also fallen under the influence of the heavy rainfall, which accompanied the storm, and was largely below the normal on the morning of the 29th. The distribution which followed the disappearance of the depression was, however, such as to give rise to winds less easterly in direction than had prevailed before, and this led to a diminution of the rainfall over the Province as also to a rise of temperature. On the last day of the month, however, the latter had again fallen slightly below the normal.

General summary of the weather.—The weather during May was chiefly characterised by its comparative coolness as well as its excessive rainfall. The former was no doubt due in the first place to the prevalence of the easterly breezes, which followed the slightly abnormal distribution of pressure which has been noted above. This distribution in its turn probably owed its origin to what may be called the distribution of the temperature as apart from its degree, but unfortunately this latter distribution cannot, with the data at present at our disposal, be satisfactorily accounted for. Again, the high winds, which blew almost uniformly during the month at the head of the Bay, aided the distribution of pressure in producing the indraught of moist air from the sea to which the excessive rainfall was ultimately due. These high winds are usually associated with high temperatures on the mainland, and it may be thought that this factor was as wanting in the present case, as temperature was almost consistently below the average during the month. It should be noted, however, that it is the temperature difference and not the absolute temperature, which is the real determining cause, and that these temperature differences were, as far as can be ascertained, above the average during the month of May. A further point which should be noticed is that the temperatures recorded in the interior of India beyond the limits of the reporting area for Bengal were for much the greater part of the month very considerably in excess of the average. The rainfall which occurred during the passage of the storm was of course due to causes apart from these here noticed.

Summary of pressure.—Pressure never departed very far from the normal except during the storm period of the 27th and 28th. The oscillations which occurred at other times were for the most part of short period and of small amplitude. On the whole, however, the range was greater on the side of high than of low pressure, and mean pressure was accordingly in slight excess except in Chota Nagpur, where, however, the defect was inconsiderable.

Summary of temperature.—Temperature, as has been already noted, was in defect during almost the whole of the month. The defect is seen both in maximum and minimum temperatures, though perhaps more noticeable in the former. Gaya shows a specially notable defect of 8° in the mean of daily maximum. As regards the mean of the daily minimum, the greatest deviations appear at Ranchi and Chaibassa, in both of which a deficiency of nearly 3° is recorded.

Summary of rainfall.—The rainfall of the month may be divided into two heads—that caused by the ordinary weather conditions prevailing during the month, and that caused by the cyclonic storm which passed across the Province on the 27th and 28th. The latter was general and heavy in North and Central Bengal. With regard to the former, conditions were favourable for rainy weather in North Bengal during almost the whole of the month, and rainfall was consequently more or less continuous during this period. In South-West Bengal as well as in the western divisions of the Province, rainfall was practically absent during the first few days and the last days of the month as well as the period between the 15th and 20th. In East Bengal rainfall was almost as continuous, though not quite so, as in North Bengal. In all the divisions except Orissa was there excess. In North Bengal the rainfall exceeded the average by as much as 6·89 inches.

The following table gives full data for comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of May for all districts of the Province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-reporting stations in each district. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the observations of past years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different form, stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal :—

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; ⚡ strong wind; ≤ lightning.

To be eligible for a nomination under this rule, a candidate must either have landed property of his own, or be recommended by some influential landholder who desires to train him to take part in the management of his estate, or he must otherwise satisfy Government that he intends to make practical use of his agricultural training. Students entering under this rule will be termed Special Agricultural Students. They will not be subject to any maximum limit of age, but will not be entitled to the privileges conferred on passed students under rules 12 and 13, even though they should obtain fully-signed diplomas in due course after passing the necessary examinations.

Every candidate for admission to this Department must apply in writing to the Principal not later than the 14th July. The form of application for a nomination, which must be addressed to the Principal, is given in Appendix B. In the event of the form not being properly filled up and accompanied by the necessary certificates, no notice will be taken of the application.

The number to be nominated each year will depend on the accommodation available.

Every applicant, not already a student of the College, must undergo a medical examination by the College Surgeon before admission to this Department. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

The session begins on the first Monday in November. All students are required to join the College on that day. Any student prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 10. No student will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the month of November, except by special orders of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction in the Higher Agricultural Class will extend over two academic years.

Two appointments annually are assigned to students holding a fully-signed diploma: one in the Provincial Executive Service and one in the Subordinate Executive Service. The right of selection for these appointments will rest with Government, and the students who gained the highest marks at the examination for diplomas will not necessarily be selected.

Other holders of fully-signed agricultural diplomas, who wish to compete at the examination for admission to the Provincial Subordinate Executive and Opium Services, may submit their names through the Principal to Government for nominations. These applications for nominations will be considered, provided the applicants appear to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor to be otherwise suitable for admission to these services.

RESOLUTION.

The Governor General in Council observes that allegations have frequently been made to the effect that Europeans and Eurasians enjoy a disproportionate share of State patronage in India and that the legitimate claims of the natives of the country to employment in the public service are comparatively neglected. The matter has been made the subject of complaint by non-official members of the Council of the Governor General for making laws and regulations: it has also been discussed from the opposite standpoint by writers of authority on Indian administration. Moreover, prominence has more recently been given to it in a certain section of the public press. His Excellency in Council has therefore deemed it advisable to institute a special inquiry, extending over every branch of the administration, with the object of ascertaining how far the allegations are well founded.

2. For this purpose the figures of the present day have been compared with those of former periods. It cannot indeed be claimed that the appended statistics attain to mathematical correctness, as will at once be apparent from the explanation that in respect of past years the records as a rule do not give complete information as to the race and religion of employés, which must be inferred from their names. This circumstance makes it impossible in many cases to distinguish between Europeans and Eurasians, while in others it has probably led to Native Christians being treated as of European origin. But the Government of India do not think that the margin of error which these difficulties involve detracts in any appreciable measure from the value of the general conclusions which the figures suggest. Establishment books giving a nominal roll of the personnel of all ranks of Government servants are maintained by the Accountants General. These records are preserved for 35 years. For purposes of comparison, therefore, the years 1867, 1877, 1887, 1897 and 1903 have been selected. Appointments on a pay of under R75 per mensem have been excluded from the scope of the inquiry, as it is evident that below that limit natives of India have practically a monopoly of the appointments in Government service. The statistics extend over a longer period than any hitherto published, and they enter into greater detail than those presented to Parliament in 1892, which referred only to the state of things prevailing on the 31st March 1890, or than those prepared for the Royal Commission on the administration of the expenditure of India which reported four years ago.

3. It remains to explain briefly the general scheme of the attached statements in which the results of the inquiry have been tabulated. Part A, page 1, is a general statement of all civil appointments in India, showing the number held by Europeans, Eurasians, Hindus, and Muhammadans respectively, at the five periods for which figures have been procured. Page 2 of the same statement shows the proportion that each grade of appointments bears to the total number, and the percentages of appointments in each grade held by the various classes of employés. Page 3 gives the same results as page 2 in the form of a simple diagram, devised with the idea of exhibiting the main results so that they can be apprehended at a glance. Part B consists of provincial tables, giving the same set of facts for each of the civil provinces of British India. Appointments directly under the Government of India have treated for this purpose as though they pertained to a province of their own. Percentage tables and diagrams are attached to each of the provincial tables, as in Part A. Part C consists of a similar set of tables for the departments of Government. These are arranged according to the classification adopted in the civil estimates, and do not in all cases correspond exactly with the organization adopted for administrative purposes. The tables in Part C give actual figures only.

4. With the object of elucidating the main results of the investigation the statements marked Summaries I and II have been prepared. From the former it will be seen that while the development of the country and the organization of its administration have resulted during the past 36 years in an increase in the total number of civil appointments on a pay of over R75 from 13,431 to 28,278, an increase of 110 per cent., the number of posts held by Europeans has increased only by 36 per cent., and the number held by Eurasians by 106 per cent. On the other hand, the number held by Hindus has risen by 179 per cent., and the number held by Muhammadans by 129 per cent. The joint increase in the case of Europeans and Eurasians is 61 per cent. only: and the increase in the case of natives of this country is 171 per cent. In the percentage of total posts under Government, natives have gained 13 and Europeans and Eurasians have lost to a corresponding extent.

5. The results of an examination by grades are perhaps even more striking. More than half of the appointments in India are and always have been posts on less than R200 a month. The European element in these was always small, and is now less than 10 per cent. Of posts on R200 to R300, the native proportion has risen from 51 per cent. to 60 per cent.; on R300 to R400 from 23 per cent. to 43 per cent.; on R400 to R500 from 21 per cent. to 40 per cent.; on R500 to R600 from 9 per cent. to 25 per cent.; on R600 to R700 from 15 per cent. to 27 per cent.; on R700 to R800 from 5 per cent. to 13 per cent. Thus in no single grade has the proportion of Europeans increased, while the native increase has been continuous and striking, and has been larger in the higher grades than in the lower. The R800 line may be said to mark the limit of the Provincial Service. Between R800 and R1,000 there were, in 1867, 4 natives in Government employ; there are now 93. Posts on R1,000 and over may be regarded as superior. In 1867, out of a total of 648 such appointments 12 or a percentage of 2 were filled by natives, all of whom were Hindus. In 1903, out of 1,370 such appointments 71 were filled by Hindus and 21 by Muhammandans; the native percentage being, therefore, 7. Thus, even in the case of these highly-paid posts, in which the strength of the European element must in the nature of things be greater, the percentage occupied by Europeans has decreased by 5, while the percentage held by natives has risen to the same extent. The last line but two of Summary I also brings out the striking fact that, though the expansion of British India has resulted in an increase in the total number of highly paid posts, yet the percentage of such posts to the total number of appointments under Government has remained stationary. This affords a complete answer to any suggestion that Government has been raising the standard of pay in the direction of providing a greater percentage of posts for Europeans. The last line but one of the statement deals with aggregate pay. This has risen by 91 per cent. since 1867. When it is remembered that the total number of posts has risen by 110 per cent. during the period, this result indicates that the great increase of efficiency of organization has not been accompanied by disproportionate expenditure. At the same time the aggregate pay drawn by Europeans and Eurasians has risen by 60 per cent. only; while in the case of natives of India the increase is 191 per cent., and in the case of Hindus actually 204 per cent. The last line of the statement confirms the conclusion already suggested, that economy has gone hand in hand with development, by showing that the average pay of a Government appointment in India has been reduced by R31 or 9 per cent. during the past three and a half decades. This decrease however has fallen entirely upon the European and Eurasian staff, for the average pay drawn by indigenous servants of Government has risen from R175 to R188, or by 7 per cent., while that drawn by other classes has fallen by R2 or ·4 per cent. It may be added that the average pay of a Hindu Government servant (₹186) approximates closely to that of a Eurasian employé (₹194) in spite of the higher expenses of living of the latter : while the average pay of a Muhammadan employé (₹196) is actually higher than either. The last result points to a preference on the part of Muhammadans for the executive (and therefore more highly-paid) posts, to which their traditions and history naturally predispose them, rather than for ministerial employment.

6. To sum up the general results above discussed, the Governor General in Council concludes—

(i) that the aggregate cost of the civil establishment of Government has nearly doubled ;

(ii) that its average cost has appreciably declined ;

(iii) that there has been no tendency to overweight the administration by the creation of a disproportionate number of highly-paid posts ;

(iv) that while the total average pay has declined, the average pay drawn by natives has risen ; i.e., there has been a transfer of posts from European to native agency, which has been more marked in the case of posts on higher, than in the case of those on lower, pay.

7. Some of the further conclusions suggested by Summary II are of interest. This statement deals with the percentages of total posts and of superior and inferior appointments (i.e., posts over and under ₹1,000) arranged by provinces. The increase inthe percentage of total posts filled by natives is highest in Burma (27 per cent.), the Central Provinces (23 per cent.), and the Punjab (21 per cent.). This result may be attributed generally to the more recent development of these relatively backward provinces, and, in the case of Burma, to the annexation of the Upper Province. The actual percentage of native appointments is highest in Assam (74 per cent.), Madras (68 per cent.), and Bengal (67 per cent.). The first-named province has but few posts over ₹500 ; and the majority of its appointments carry a pay not in excess of ₹300, and thus are naturally held by natives. The advanced educational conditions of Bengal and Madras suffice to explain the figures for those provinces. The actual percentage of superior posts held by natives is highest in the cases of Berar (27 per cent.), Bombay (14 per cent.), and Bengal (13 per cent.). The Berar figures are too small to be significant ; but the high percentages which Bengal and Bombay also show suggest that in those provinces natives of India have been particularly successful in attaining high office under Government.

8. The Governor General in Council thinks that these results will convince any dispassionate observer that the charge to which reference was made in the opening paragraph of this Resolution is fallacious and unjust. It is not the fact that the Government of this country has abused its patronage to the benefit of any class or community of persons. On the contrary, as the development of the administrative organization has entailed the creation of fresh appointments, endeavour has consistently been made to share the privileges and responsibilities of office impartially between class and class ; and His Excellency in Council regards the results of the present inquiry as entitling him to claim that such endeavour has been successful. The general principles which regulate the situation are, he conceives, two in number. The first is that the highest ranks of Civil employment in India, those in the Imperial Civil Service, the members of which are entrusted with the responsible task of carrying on the general administration of the country, though open to such Indians as proceed to England and pass the requisite tests, must, nevertheless, as a general rule be held by Englishmen, for the reason that they possess, partly by heredity, partly by up-bringing, and partly by education, the knowledge of the principles of Government. the habits of mind, and the vigour of character, which are essential for the task, and that, the rule of India being a British rule, and any other rule being in the circumstances of the case impossible, the tone and standard should be set by those who have created and are responsible for it. The second principle is that, outside this corps d'élite, the Government shall, as far as possible and as the improving standards of education and morals permit, employ the inhabitants of the country, both because its general policy is to restrict rather than to extend European agency, and because it is desirable to enlist the best native intelligence and character in the service of the State. This principle is qualified only by the fact that in certain departments where scientific or technical knowledge is required, or where there is a call for the exercise of particular responsibility or for the possession of a high standard of physical endurance, it is necessary to maintain a strong admixture, and sometimes even a great preponderance, of the European element. The Governor General in Council concludes this investigation in the satisfactory assurance that these principles have been vindicated in practice. The statistics annexed to this Resolution show that whatever standard is applied to the admission of natives to Government service, whether it be number or proportion of posts held by them, or the average or aggregate pay drawn, the results are the same. There has been a progressive increase in the employment of natives and a progressive decline in the employment of Europeans, showing how honestly and faithfully the British Government has fulfilled its pledges, and how untrue is the charge which is so often heard, of a ban of exclusion against the natives of the country.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations and to the several Departments of the Government of India for information ; and that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; ≤ lightning; ⁄ strong wind.

Students entering under this rule will be termed Special Agricultural Students. They will not be subject to any maximum limit of age, but will not be entitled to the privileges conferred on passed students under rules 12 and 13, even though they should obtain fully-signed diplomas in due course after passing the necessary examinations.

Every candidate for admission to this Department must apply in writing to the Principal not later than the 14th July. The form of application for a nomination, which must be addressed to the Principal, is given in Appendix B. In the event of the form not being properly filled up and accompanied by the necessary certificates, no notice will be taken of the application.

The number to be nominated each year will depend on the accommodation available.

Every applicant, not already a student of the College, must undergo a medical examination by the College Surgeon before admission to this Department. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

The session begins on the first Monday in November. All students are required to join the College on that day. Any student prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 10. No student will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the month of November, except by special orders of the Director of Public Instruction. BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

Revised Prospectus for Admission.

THIS School is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. 2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60, of whom only 15 can be other than Biharis by race (viz., natives of the United Provinces, Central Provinces or Bengalis); but should the number of suitable applicants who are Biharis by race be insufficient to fill up the 45 vacancies, then the vacancies thus occurring can be given to those applicants who are natives of the United Provinces, Central Provinces, or Bengalis domiciled in Bihar or non-domiciled Bengalis.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final B class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference, again, being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.:

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE METEOROLOGICAL REPORTER TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1903-1904.

NOTIFICATION No. 1610T.—R.

The 25th June 1904.—The following is published for general information.

A. EARLE,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE Bengal Meteorological Department was under the control of Mr. C. Little up to the 15th March. I was appointed as Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal from the 16th March, and the Department was under my control from that date till the end of the year.

2. The number of observatories on the 31st March 1904 was 47, i.e., one more than the number on the corresponding date of the previous year. The increase is due to the establishment of a temporary 3rd class observatory at Laheria Serai, the head-quarters station of the district of Darbhanga. For some time past it has been in contemplation of the local authorities to remove the office of the Civil Surgeon located in the Raj Hospital at Darbhanga to Laheria

Serai, where the other Government offices are. As the meteorological observatory, which is in charge of the Civil Surgeon and is situated in the grounds of the Raj Hospital, will at the same time have to be removed, it was found necessary to establish a temporary observatory at Laheria Serai for one year, recording one set of observations at 8 A. M. to enable comparative observations being taken at the two sites in order to determine the differences in the temperature, humidity and rainfall conditions. This will enable the Meteorological Department to apply suitable corrections to the observations and their means at the old site, and thus adapt them to represent the conditions at the new site. A complete set of instruments was supplied, and my head clerk was deputed to put up the instruments, train the observer, who is a compounder of the local charitable dispensary belonging to Government, and to start the observatory. The observatory was started on the 27th July 1903.

3. There were thus six 2nd class and thirty-nine 3rd class observatories, and one voluntary and one temporary observatory under the control of the Bengal Meteorological Department on the 31st March 1904. The following table gives the names and distribution of these 47 observatories:—

Second-class Observatories (6).

Chittagong.	Darjeeling.	Hazaribagh.
Darbhanga.	False Point.	Saugor Island.

Third-class Observatories (39).

Burdwan.	Krishnagar.	Purulia.
Buxar.	Malda.	Rampur Boalia.
Chaibassa.	Midnapore.	Ranchi.
Chapra.	Motihari.	Raniganj.
Comilla.	Muzaffarpur.	Rangpur.
Cuttack.	Mymensingh.	Sirajganj.

Voluntary Observatory (1).

Cooch Behar.

Temporary Observatory (1).

Laheria Serai.

4. Two other observatories, viz., Angul and Monghyr, have been sanctioned by Government, but they have not yet been started.

5. The principles of the working of the Department explained in previous Administration Reports have been maintained and no changes of importance have been introduced.

6. The thermograph in use at Chittagong had to be recalled as it was out of order, and the allowance of the observer was proportionately reduced.

INSPECTION OF OBSERVATORIES.

7. The following observatories were inspected during the past year :—

No.	Station.	Date of inspection.	By whom inspected.
1	Chittagong ...	May ...	Sir John Eliot, Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.
2	Darjeeling ...	March ...	Assistant Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.
3	Darbhanga ...	22nd July ...	Head Clerk, Meteorological Office, Bengal.
4	Mymensingh ...	11th & 12th September ...
5	Narayanganj ...	13th September ...
6	Naya Dumka ..	22nd, 23rd & 24th December.
7	Berhampore ...	26th, 27th & 28th December.
8	Bhagalpur ...	30th & 31st December ...
9	Balasore ...	29th & 30th April & 1st May	Sub-Inspector of Observatories.
10	Mymensingh ...	20th, 21st & 22nd May ...
11	Barisal ...	24th, 25th & 26th May ...
12	Jessore ...	28th, 29th & 30th May ...
13	Chittagong ...	11th, 12th & 13th February

8. Continued ill-health prevented Mr. Little from doing any inspection work during the year under review. Had he been able to visit the eight or ten observatories allotted to his share, the number of inspection visits would not have been less than that prescribed by Government.

RESULTS OF INSPECTION AND WORK AT OBSERVATORIES.

9. Second class observatories.—Only three 2nd class observatories were visited during the past year, viz., Darjeeling, Darbhanga and Chittagong, and all of them were found to be in good condition at the time of inspection. The Chittagong observer, however, is careless, and the observatory had to be visited on two occasions. Sir John Eliot visited the observatory in May and the Sub-Inspector of Observatories in February last, and though the observations have improved, yet there remains considerable room for further improvement.

The observer at Darjeeling, who is the steward of the St. Paul's School, threatened to resign his appointment on the ground of increased work in the school. My object in visiting Darjeeling was to find another suitable site for the observatory, should it be necessary to remove it on the present observer resigning his post. An excellent site was found on the grounds belonging to the Military Works Department and the Military authorities kindly offered to arrange for the observations being recorded by some responsible person. The present Observer has, however, agreed to stay for another year. Should he decide on resigning his post at the end of that term, the observatory will have to be removed, though this will be very undesirable.

10. Third class observatories.—At the time of inspection the observatories at Narayanganj, Berhampore, Bhagalpur, Dumka and Jessore were found to be in good condition, and judging from the observations submitted during the year, the observers seem to have been careful in their work. The observatories at Barisal, Balasore and Mymensingh were in fair condition at the time of inspection and the observations submitted during the year were generally correct.

The object of the visit of my head clerk to Mymensingh in September last was to shift the barometer from the Public Works Department godown, where it had been for many years. There was no good site available close by, but the Public Works Department authorities having insisted on the removal of the instrument on the ground of the godown being required for other purposes, the Magistrate of Mymensingh kindly allowed the instrument to be placed in the private room of the Joint-Magistrate. The barometer was removed to the new site on the 12th September 1903.

Owing to the extension of the Lunatic Asylum at Berhampore towards the river side, the thermometer shed and the rain-gauge at that station had to be removed to a site about 200 feet to the north-west of the old site. The exposure at the new site is as good as in the old site. The removal of the thermometers to the new shed was effected on 22nd May 1903.

Generally speaking, the observers at the stations which could not be visited during the past year did good work.

11. Award for special observations.—The following observers were granted special awards by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India and Director-General of Indian Observatories for storm observations, etc., taken by them during the past year:—

Station.	Amount.
	Rs.	A.
Burdwan	0	8
False Point	1	0
Mymensingh	0	8
Saugor Island ...	5	0
Pamban	14	0

12. Work at, and inspection of, Rain-gauge stations.—The number of rain-gauge stations on the 31st March 1904 was 380, i. e., six more than on the corresponding date last year.

13. The names of the stations started during the year are given in the following table:—

Station.	District.	Sanctioned in Government order—
Laukahi	Darbhanga ...	No. 2219T.—R., dated 8th October 1902.
Baliapal	Balasore ...	No. 108T.—R., dated 21st April 1903.
Eram
Islampur ...	Patna ...	The stations were started before receipt of Government order of the 25th August 1903.
Asthwan ...
Jointigarh ...	Singhbhum ...	The station was started before receipt of Government order of the 25th August 1903.

14. The rainfall work at Dumkol in the district of Murshidabad has been in abeyance since February last. The rain-gauge at that station had been in charge of Mr. Stenhouse, Manager Cantacobra Indigo concern for many years. But he has expressed his inability to carry on the work any longer. I have therefore addressed the Collector of the district to make other arrangements for the continuance of rainfall registration at that station.

15. No rainfall returns have been received from Patkabari, (in Murshidabad district) where the rain-gauge is in charge of the Manager of the Patkabari Indigo concern. The rainfall work at that station has been in abeyance since September 1903.

16. Kurdeg in the district of Ranchi is another station from which rainfall returns since January last have not been received.

17. In paragraph 15 of the Administration Report for the year 1902-1903, a list of stations was given where the rain-registering officers had been irregular in the submission of the rainfall reports. It is to be regretted that in the case of the following stations no improvement has been observed:—

Station.	District.	Station.	District.
Rejauli ...	Gaya.	Dharmsala ...	Cuttack.
Barkope ...	Sonthal Parganas.	Salipore ...
Bhagya ...		Ramchandrapur ...	Tippera.
Nanihat ...		Daudkandi ...
Bhabua ...	Shahabad.	Kasba ...
Sasaram ...		Nasirnagar ...
Mohania ...

18. The total number of rain-gauges inspected during the past year was 230, against 232 in 1902-1903, 177 in 1901-1902, and 194 in 1900-1901.

19. The rain-gauges in the Orissa and Chota Nagpur Tributary Mahals, which had never before been inspected, were for the first time visited during the past year.

20. Altogether 379 visits were made during the past year. For ready reference the following table has been prepared showing the number of inspections made during the past five years:—

Year.	Number of inspections made during each year.
1899-1900 ...	212
1900-1901 ...	301
1901-1902 ...	300
1902-1903 ...	415
1903-1904 ...	379

21. It will be seen that a large amount of inspection work has been done during the past two years. The system of regular inspection of rain-gauges has resulted in many cases in the improvement of exposure of rain-gauges, replacement of defective rain-gauges by new instruments and the proper training of the rain-registering officers.

22. The following table shows the distribution of the 380 rainfall stations in the various districts in Bengal, as it stood on 31st March 1904, and the number of stations inspected in each district during the past year:—

District.	Number of rain-gauge stations.	Number of rain-gauge stations inspected.	District.	Number of rain-gauge stations.	Number of rain-gauge stations inspected.

23. The system of supplying rain-gauges and measure-glasses to the rain registering officers in Bengal from the Meteorological Office, Bengal, worked satisfactorily during the past year. As the system has been in vogue for a complete term of five years, it is desirable to give a statement of the extra work done by the Bengal Meteorological Department without any additional expense to Government. The number of rain-gauges, measure-glasses and glass bottles supplied to outlying stations during each of the past five years is given in the following table. The instruments have, as a rule, been despatched on the day of receipt of the indent.

24. Departmental Reports.—The short annual report on the Meteorology of Bengal for the year 1902, with two maps illustrating the actual and percentage rainfall, was prepared and submitted to the Government of Bengal on the 4th April 1903. The submission of this report has since been discontinued by order of Government.

25. The report on the Meteorology of Bengal for the Monsoon Season of 1903 was prepared and submitted to the Government of Bengal on the 22nd December 1903. The usual number of rainfall maps illustrating the distribution of rainfall over the Province, the district variation from the normal and the percentage variation from the normal for the monsoon period of 1903, were also prepared and submitted to Government with the monsoon summary.

26. The monthly rainfall table for Bengal and the meteorological table for Bengal and Assam, with a summary of the chief features of the weather of the month, was published in the Calcutta Gazette about the middle of every month.

27. The following annual rainfall tables were prepared and published in the Calcutta Gazette. They were for the period January to December:—

Table I—Showing the monthly and annual rainfall at 380 stations in Bengal for 1903.

Table II—Showing the monthly and annual average rainfall at 318 rainfall stations in Bengal.

Table III—Comparison table of the rainfall of 1903 at 318 rainfall stations in Bengal with averages of previous years.

Addenda to the rainfall table of the Province of Bengal for the year 1903.

28. Charts showing the distribution of actual rainfall, the variation from the normal and the percentage variation, were prepared and submitted monthly to the Government of Bengal during the period May to October 1903, and copies were sent to the Sanitary Commissioner.

29. The Bay of Bengal and Bengal daily weather report dealing with observations taken at 68 meteorological observatories, viz., 46 observatories under my direct control and 22 other stations in Assam, Burma, Madras and Ceylon, including the first-class observatory at Alipore, which is under the administration of the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India and Director-General of Indian Observatories, was published from 1st May to 31st October. The Bay of Bengal report, dealing with observations taken at 28 observatories round the coast of the Bay, was published during the rest of the year. Both the reports were published daily, including Sundays and holidays, and delivered to the subscribers in Calcutta between 12 and 2 o'clock the same day.

30. The daily flag signal message to Saugor Island and Elephant Point (Rangoon) and the daily weather telegram to the following officers were continued throughout the year:—

31. The daily weather telegram was sent to the Port Officer, Chittagong, from 16th May to 16th November (inclusive). The telegram was also sent to the Port Conservator, Calingapatam, regularly on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays

32. The Port Officer, Gopalpur, has been added to the list of recipients of the daily weather telegram. The telegram was commenced from 8th December 1903.

34. Information of the occurrence of rainfall above one inch at Daltonganj was sent to the Sub-Engineer, Dehri Workshops.

35. There was no addition or alteration in the Code of Storm Signals.

36. The dates of the principal storms and barometric depressions occurring during the past year are given in the first of the two following tables, and the action taken in the matter of issuing storm-warnings and hoisting storm-signals is indicated in the second of these tables:—

Table giving a brief statement of the storms which affected the Bay of Bengal Coasts during the year 1903-1904.

Number of storm.	Period of depression or storm.	Character of storm.	Coast affected.
1	12th to 14th July ...	A shallow depression was shown on the 12th over the north of the Bay which developed into a storm on the 13th and passed inland in the early morning of the 14th.	Orissa Coast.
2	17th to 19th July ...	A shallow depression appeared off the Orissa and Ganjam coasts on the 17th. The centre of the storm on the 18th was in about Lat. 18° 44′ N. and Long. 86° 39′ E. It was shown crossing the Orissa coast and advancing in a north westerly direction into Chota Nagpur on the 19th.	Ditto.

Number of storm.	Period of depression or storm.	Character of storm.	Coast affected.
3	22nd and 23rd July ...	A small storm was shown near Saugor Island on the 22nd. The disturbed conditions lasted till the 23rd, when it crossed the coast near Balasore.	Bengal and Orissa Coasts.
4	30th July to 2nd August.	On the morning of the 30th a shallow depression appeared over the north-west of the Bay, but it was of slight extent. It advanced north-westward on the 31st and intensified on the 1st, causing moderately strong winds around the depression and fresh to strong squally south-westerly winds prevailed over the Bay with showery to rainy weather. It passed inland in the early morning of the 2nd, causing heavy rain over the east of the Central Provinces and over Orissa.	Orissa Coast.
5	28th to 30th August ...	Pressure decreased over the Bay and squally unsettled weather prevailed over the west on the 27th. There was comparatively little development of the disturbance on the 28th though a well defined cyclonic circulation of the winds was shown around a centre in about Lat. 16° N. and Long. 86° E. On the 29th the disturbed conditions developed into a storm and increasing cyclonic winds prevailed over the Bay. The centre crossed the coast between Vizagapatam and Gopalpur on the 30th.	Ganjam Coast.
6	15th and 16th September.	On the 15th a shallow depression formed over the north-west of the Bay off the Circars Coast, which passed inland on the 16th.	Ditto.
7	3rd to 6th October ...	A depression of slight intensity appeared in the north of the Bay on the 3rd. It slightly intensified and was approaching the coast between Vizagapatam and False Point on the 4th. It developed into a storm on the 5th and the centre lay near Gopalpur at 8 A.M. on that day. It crossed the coast on the night of the 5th.	Orissa Coast.
8	28th and 29th October	On the 28th a moderately well defined cyclonic circulation of winds was developed over the Bay and a storm was shown lying off the Madras coast. At 8 A.M. on the 29th it appeared to be approaching the coast in the neighbourhood of Coconada and Waltair and finally crossed the coast at about 4 P.M. on that day.	Circars Coast.
9	5th and 6th November	Weather was very unsettled in the south-west of the Bay on the 4th. The unsettled conditions slightly intensified on the 5th. The depression lay apparently near the station of Madras at 8 A.M. of 6th. During the 7th, 8th, and 9th it hovered over or near the Madras coast slowly filling up, but was never of any importance or intensity.	Coromandel Coast.
10	14th and 15th November.	This depression which caused the most severe storm of the year, probably formed in the equatorial region to the south of the Nicobars. It moved with exceptional rapidity north-westward and was over the south of the Bay on the 13th and in the central area on the morning of the 14th. It then recurved and with similar rapid motion turned gradually eastward and broke up in the neighbourhood of Akyab on the 15th.	Arakan Coast.
11	25th to 27th November	A shallow depression was shown in the south of the Bay on the 25th which appeared to be approaching the Madras coast on the 26th. It advanced to the neighbourhood of Madras on the 27th and gradually filled up during the day.	Coromandel Coast.
12	4th December ...	The disturbance was accompanied by sudden development of a severe gale of wind over the south of the Bay on the 4th. The depression crossed the Madras coast and passed westward into the Arabian Sea.	Ditto.
13	29th to 31st December	This depression moving apparently from the south-east appeared on the North Ceylon and South Madras coasts on the 29th. It recurved northwards and passing over the Eastern Madras districts on the 30th filled up over the Bay to the east of Nellore on the 31st.	Ditto.

37. The thanks of the Department are due to the tea and indigo planters, to the Moravian Missionaries at Pedong, and to the Chinese Commissioner of Customs at Yatung (in Tibet) who have kindly continued to send rainfall returns during the past year, to the Surveyor-General, Ceylon, for sending meteorological observations taken at Colombo and Trincomallee for the daily weather report, and to Messrs. Mackinnon Mackenzie & Co., Agents of the British India Steam Navigation Company, for allowing the commanders of their vessels to telegraph summaries of the weather experienced during their voyages.

38. Office Establishment.—The work of calculating rainfall averages of the Bengal stations (346 in number) up to date was carried out by order of the Government of Bengal. The work could not be done during the usual office hours but had to be performed after office hours. The various members of the office establishment deserve credit, not only for the willing spirit with which they have carried out this extra work, but also for the satisfactory way in which they have performed their general duties throughout the year.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; p, passing temporary showers; g, gloomy.
